

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Love's Young Dream.

Oh, the days are gone when beauty bright
My heart's chain wove;
When my dream of life, from morn till
night,
Was love, still love!
New hope may bloom
And days may come
Of milder, calmer beam,
But there's nothing half so sweet in life
As love's young dream!
Oh, there's nothing half so sweet in life
As love's young dream!

Though the hard to purer fame may soar,
When will youth's past;
Though he win the wise, who frowned before,
To smile at last,
He'll never meet
A joy so sweet,
In all his noon of fame,
As when first he sang to woman's ear
His soul-felt flame,
And at every close she blushed to hear
The one loved name.

Oh, that hallowed form is ne'er forgot
Which first love traced;
Still it lingers faint the greenest spot
On memory's waste,
'Twas once a face
As soon as shed,
'Twas morning's winged dream;
'Twas a light that ne'er can shine again
On life's dull stream;
Oh, 'twas a light that ne'er can shine
again
On life's dull stream!

Zinn—Cameron.

A brilliant wedding of the Easter season will be celebrated at seven o'clock this forenoon, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cameron, of No. 519 East Franklin street, when their daughter, Flora Macdonald, will be married to Mr. George Zinn, of Orange county, Va. The bride, Miss Zinn, daughter of St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., and the Rev. Dr. Russell Cecil, of Second Presbyterian church, this city, officiating.

The spacious parlors and dining room of the Cameron home will be exquisitely decorated with the green of palms, ferns and smilax, the blossom and fragrance of Easter lilies and American Beauty roses. Thillow's orchestra will render an appropriate musical programme.

The attendants will be the maids of honor, Misses Mary and Janet Cameron, and the best man, Dr. John Sedgewick Andrews, of Delaware.

The bride, dressed in chiffon over satin, trimmed with point lace, her veil caught with orange blossoms, and her flowers, a shower of lilies of the valley, will come in with her father, Mr. A. H. Cameron. The maids of honor will wear costumes of blue tulle, with touches of pink and white, and hats with pink plumes. They will carry bouquets of pink roses.

The ceremony will be followed by an elegant wedding breakfast with the guests seated. Those from out of town in attendance will be: Mr. and Mrs. William DuPont, of Montpelier, Orange county; Mrs. Theodore Rogers, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Bradford, of Washington; Mrs. Lyman D. Gilbert, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. Graham Cameron, of Port Henry, N. Y.; Mr. O'Leary, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bland, of Baltimore; Mrs. Andrews, of Orange, Va.; Miss Elaine DuPont Irving and Mr. Louis Irving, of Irvington, N. Y.; Mr. Wallace Lanahan, of Baltimore; Mr. Dan Saltwell, of Boston; Mr. Furman, of Orange, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Goss, of Orange, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Heasman, of Berkeley, England.

Miss Cameron made her debut in Richmond two years ago and has since spent a year in Paris and in travel through Europe, visiting her father's former home in Scotland. Through her mother, who is the granddaughter of the late Octavia Robinson, wife of Barton Haxall, for many years prominently identified with the social and business life of Richmond, Cameron Lodge, the country home of Miss Cameron's father, is situated in the picturesque Piedmont section of Virginia, near the country estate, formerly owned near Gordonsville, by Mr. Barton Haxall.

Mr. Zinn is the son of Mrs. William DuPont, of Montpelier, Va. He will take his bride to live at "Gaston Hall," his recently built home, in Orange county.

Smith—Walsh.

One of the prettiest of the Easter weddings was that of Miss Blanche Anusalis Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas James Walsh, to Mr. Thomas Navy Smith, which took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, No. 819 East Marshall street. The Rev. Dr. William E. Evans, rector of Mount Vernon Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony.

The entire lower floor of the house was decorated with a profusion of palms and Easter flowers, and Mr. I. D. Briggs, Jr., had charge of the music. Miss Ira Lillian Walsh, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Robert Hill Brown was best man. There were no other attendants.

The bride, who entered with her father, wore a stylish suit of tan silk eadown over tulle, with a white picture hat and white gloves. Her bouquet was of Bride roses.

The maid of honor wore a beautiful gown of pink tulle over tulle. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home after May first at Virginia Avenue and High Street, Portsmouth.

The bride is an attractive blonde, and has a large circle of friends in Richmond.

LONDON CHURCHES

RICHARD MONCTON MILNES.
(Lord Houghton.)

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch have already been printed in this series.

I STOOD, one Sunday morning,

Before a large church door.

The congregation gathered,

And carriages a score.

From one out stopped a lady

I oft had seen before.

Her hand was on a prayer book,

And held a vial of tears.

The sign of man's redemption

Clear on the book was set.

But above the cross there gleamed

A golden coronet.

For her the obsequious glistened

The inner door swung wide;

Lightly, as up a hill-side,

Her footsteps seemed to glide.—

There might be good thoughts in her,

For all her evil pride.

But after her a woman

Peeped wistfully within.

On whose wan face was graven

Life's hardest discipline.

The trace of the sad trinity

Of weakness, pain and sin.

The few free seats were crowded

Where she could rest and pray;

With her worn garb contrasted

Each side in fair array.—

"God's house holds no poor sinners,"

She sighed, and crept away.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1935. One is published each day.

STARTS IMMIGRATION.

Commissioner Koiner's Efforts

Bring Scotchmen Here.

Two able-bodied young Scotchmen, just from their native land, walked into Commissioner Koiner's office yesterday, the first of the immigrants to arrive. They came to this country as a result of the efforts being made to induce immigration from Great Britain. They landed in New York Tuesday and came on direct to Richmond by a letter of introduction from Mr. Koiner. Both are young single men, splendidly built, and are intelligent, and they made a very good impression upon the commissioner.

One of them has considerable knowledge of trucking, and has been employed sixteen years in a large greenhouse in Scotland. The young men desire to locate as farm hands in the Shenandoah Valley. Mr. Koiner will endeavor to place them. The records of the commissioner's office now include a list of those desiring farm labor, the list stating the kind of labor desired, and whether or not they can be boarded upon the place.
